DONE at Washington, in duplicate, in the English and Spanish languages, each text being equally authentic, this twentieth day of August, 1980.

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF COLOMBIA:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

Washington, August 20, 1980.

HIS EXCELLENCY VIRGILIO BARCO,

Ambassador of Colombia,

EXCELLENCY: I have the honor to refer to the treaty between the United States and the Republic of Colombia on Mutual Legal Assistance signed on August 20, 1980, and in particular to Article 14 thereof, and to bring to your attention the understanding of the United States Government with respect to that Article.

Article 14(1) provides that each Contracting Party may furnish the other with a record which is in the possession of a government agency in the Requested State and which is not available to the public in that State, provided that the Requested State deems it appropriate to do so.

Since the major purpose of the treaty is to extend as broad and comprehensive a range of mutual legal assistance as possible, the United States expects that it will be sparing in its exercise of the discretion to refuse assistance in accordance with this provision. However, it must be understood that examples of situations in which the United States might deem it inappropriate to disclose information in its government files would be where disclosure could cause harm to individuals cooperating in criminal investigations, or compromise voluntary sources of information crucial to governmental operations, or otherwise adversely affect the operations of the government or the administration of justice.

One area in which the United States would consider the disclosure of information generally inappropriate under Article 14(1) of the treaty deserves special mention. The disclosure of tax information, such as taxpayer returns or information relating thereto, is strictly limited under United States law since the proper operation of our tax laws depends on voluntary taxpayer cooperation. Accordingly, the United States will consider it appropriate to disclose such information only when requested to do so for the purpose of furthering the administration of the tax laws in Colombia, and only to persons, courts, or administrative agencies responsible for assessment, collection, litigation, or other functions under the tax laws of Colombia.

I would appreciate a letter from Your Excellency confirming that the understanding described above is also the understanding of the Government of Colombia.

Accept, Excellency, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.
WARREN CHRISTOPHER,
Acting Secretary of State.

EMBASSY OF COLOMBIA,
Washington, August 20, 1980.

Hon. WARREN CHRISTOPHER,
Acting Secretary of State,
Washington, D.C.

EXCELLENCY: I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of Your Excellency’s note dated August 20, 1980, which, when translated into Spanish, reads as follows:

[he Spanish translation of Acting Secretary Christopher’s note agrees in all substantive respects with the original English text.]

I have the honor to confirm that the understanding set forth in your note accords with that of the Government of Colombia.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to Your Excellency the assurances of my highest consideration.

VIRGILIO BARCO,
Ambassador of Colombia.
